HIGH CHALLENGE FOR ALL: EQUITY, ENGAGEMENT, AND ADAPTIVE TEACHING

WEDNESDAY 21 MAY 2025 3:45-4:45PM

How can we ensure every student experiences meaningful challenge, particularly those who may be underachieving or disengaged? In this webinar, Morgan Whitfield explores practical, evidence-informed strategies for identifying and supporting underachieving high-ability students in diverse classroom settings. Focusing on adaptive teaching, equity, and providing appropriate challenges for all learners, this session aims to help educators reframe their approach to differentiation and create inclusive environments where every student is empowered to thrive.

About the Speaker: Morgan Whitfield is a dynamic educational leader and author dedicated to promoting equity and challenge for all students. She currently serves as the Director of Teaching and Learning at Amity International School Abu Dhabi. With a career spanning three continents, Morgan has held roles such as Head of Sixth Form, Head of Humanities, and Head of Scholars. Her book, Gifted?: The Shift to Enrichment, Challenge and Equity, published in 2024, challenges traditional conceptions of gifted and talented programs, advocating for inclusive enrichment strategies.
